

During all these years of research and innovation in the nuclear field, we have built up a real instinct for protection, to ensure your safety today and tomorrow.

Communication

The TEAM TALK Headband device is a communication tool designed for use inside various ventilated garments that do not incorporate a breathing mask. It allows communication with other devices at short and long range, but also via a wireless link.

The TEAM TALK Headband communication tool is adapted to various ventilated garments such as MATIVENT helmets or MRV5 and TIVA suits.

